EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

HOW EXPANSIVE IS ALEC'S REACH IN JEFFERSON CITY AND TOPEKA?

Through the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC), corporations hand Missouri legislators wish lists in the form of "model" legislation that often directly benefit their bottom line at the expense of Missouri families. Behind closed doors, ALEC legislators vote as equals with corporate lobbyists to adopt ALEC model bills crafted by corporations, for corporations. The same corporations that benefit from ALEC model legislation funnel thousands of dollars of gifts and campaign contributions to ALEC legislators, which pushes the envelope on ethics and lobbying law. Elected officials who are members of ALEC then bring their model legislation back to Missouri, where they pass-off the bills as their own ideas and important public policy innovations without disclosing that corporations crafted and pre-voted on the bills at closed-door meetings with legislators who are part of ALEC.

The influence of ALEC is strong in Topeka, Jefferson City and state capitols around the country. Our research shows:

- 120 current and former Kansas and Missouri legislators with known ALEC ties
- 47 current MO legislators with known ALEC ties, although ALEC claimed in leaked documents last year that 57 are members (leaving at least 10 unknown)
- 48 known KS legislators with ALEC ties, while ALEC claims 69 are members (leaving at least 21 unknown)
- At least 24 ALEC model and ALEC-inspired bill filed in the Kansas legislature in recent years
- At least 58 ALEC model and ALEC-inspired bills filed in the Missouri legislature in recent years

Identifying a complete list of Kansas and Missouri legislators who are part of ALEC is a difficult task, because ALEC operates largely in secret, and refuses to make their full list of members public.

WHY IS ALEC'S INFLUENCE IN JEFFERSON CITY AND TOPEKA IMPORTANT?

ALEC gives state legislators a way to appear highly active in the legislative process by secretly outsourcing their role in drafting legislation to the corporate special interests that curry influence with lawmakers behind closed doors at ALEC meetings. The Kansas City Star writes that ALEC "is funded and dominated by free-market and corporate interests who work with like-minded legislators to push various agendas." What are these "various agendas"? Here is a taste:

- Taking away workers' rights while shielding corporations from accountability. ALEC works fervently to promote laws that limit the rights of workers, and at the same time pushes bills that help shield corporations from legal accountability for injuring or killing Kansas and Missouri citizens. ALEC model legislation rolls-back or blocks efforts to guarantee workers are paid a fair wage. Its bills undermine organized labor by stripping public employees' collective bargaining rights and weaken private-sector workers' voices through so-called 'right to work' laws. ALEC also promotes so-called "tort-reform" bills that shield corporations from liability for harming state residents, for example, by making it harder for injured Missourians to access the courts and capping damages that corporations might owe.

- Taking away voters' fundamental freedoms. ALEC is directly tied to the trend among state legislatures to limit the ability of American citizens to vote by passing restrictive 'voter ID' laws. Citing demonstrably false allegations of 'voter fraud,' right-wing politicians, many of whom are ALEC members, are pursuing policies that threaten to disenfranchise people of color, students, and other voters - including the elderly and the poor - who are statistically less likely to have the forms of identification required under the laws and who previously could vote by showing proof of residence and other identification. By suppressing the vote of such groups of likely Democratic voters, ALEC's model 'Voter ID Act' grants an electoral advantage to Republicans while undermining Americans' fundamental right to vote.
- Privatizing public schools. Despite constitutional problems, negative impacts on public schools, bias against disadvantaged students, and comprehensive studies demonstrating that private-school voucher programs fail to make any substantial improvements in education, ALEC pushes vouchers as a way to privatize public education and put dollars from Missouri and Kansas taxpayers into the pockets of for-profit and private school operators. Under the guise of 'school choice,' ALEC pushes bills with titles like the 'Parental Choice Scholarship Act' and the 'Great Schools Tax Credit Program Act,' that establish or expand private-school voucher programs.
- Protecting polluters. At the behest of its major donors like Peabody Energy, Exxon Mobil and Koch Industries, ALEC puts its muscle behind state-level legislation that hinders citizens' ability to curb polluters through environmental regulation. ALEC has previously said that carbon dioxide "is beneficial to plant and human life alike," and promotes climate change denialism, even in schools. ALEC's model legislation assails EPA emissions guidelines and greenhouse gas regulations, undermines regional climate initiatives, and pushes for extreme deregulation, giving free rein to some of the biggest polluters on the planet.
- Undermining public systems and structures. As states face challenging budget deficits, ALEC seeks to make it harder to generate revenue in order to close budget shortfalls. Such bills include the "Super-Majority Act," which would allow a tiny minority of lawmakers to block a majority vote to raise taxes (and created such a financial disaster in California that voters overturned a similar law); the so-called "Taxpayer Bill of Rights," which drastically restricts government revenue and helped forced Colorado to slash vital public programs; and measures to eliminate capital gains taxes and progressive income taxes. The main beneficiaries of ALEC's reckless fiscal policies are big corporations (like those that back ALEC) and their executives – the big losers are the rest of us.

ALEC'S CAMPAIGN FLOWS THROUGH TOPEKA AND JEFFERSON CITY

Why would a legislator be interested in advancing cookie-cutter bills that are giveaways for multinational corporations located outside of Missouri and Kansas? ALEC's appeal rests largely on the fact that these legislators receive trips, food and lodging that provide many part-time legislators and their families with vacations, along with the opportunity to rub shoulders with prospective donors to their political campaigns. The ritzy trips are paid for by "scholarships" funded by corporations and "awarded" to legislators, not on the basis of any scholarly work, but on a legislator's willingness to push the ALEC agenda. For a few hours of work on a task force and sitting through a couple of workshops by ALEC experts, part-time Kansas and Missouri legislators can bring the whole family to ALEC's annual convention, vote in private meetings with corporate lobbyists, and stay in swank hotels and attend parties, all heavily subsidized by the same corporations that benefit from the introduction and passage of ALEC model legislation. As the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported after the 2011 ALEC conference in New Orleans, "corporate benefactors made sure Missouri lawmakers attending the conference were well fed and hydrated;" AT&T, for example, picked up the entire $1,400 dinner tab for Missouri lawmakers in one meal at a high-end French Quarter restaurant. The arrangement goes something like this:

1. Missouri and Kansas legislators go to an ALEC conference that resembles a vacation, with expenses paid by corporations via ALEC's so-called "scholarships."
2. Legislators vote, together with these same corporations, to adopt model legislation written to boost corporate profits.
3. While on vacation at the ALEC conference, legislators mingle with lobbyists and potential donors to their political campaigns.
4. Legislators take the model bills back to their capitols and push them as their own.
5. Corporations and lobbyists make donations to favored legislators' political campaigns.

This happens among legislators in both Missouri and Kansas with alarming frequency. Between 2006 and 2008, Kansas legislators were awarded more than \$24,000 worth of "scholarships" to ALEC junkets. Even though Kansas has strict donations on lobbyist gifts, these lavish trips are disguised as "educational expenses." During the same two-year period, Missouri lawmakers received more than \$31,000 in ALEC "scholarships." Since 2008, ALEC has spent more than $40,000 on trips for Missouri state lawmakers, whisking them away to junkets in places like San Diego, Los Angeles, New Orleans and Washington, D.C. The worst offender in Missouri is House Speaker Tim Jones, who has received nearly $12,000 worth of trips funded by ALEC corporations.

MISSOURI AND KANSAS ELECTED OFFICIALS WITH ALEC TIES

ALEC operates largely in secret, so it is challenging to identify all legislators with ties to the organization. Despite claiming to be a legislative membership organization, there is no full list of member legislators anywhere on ALEC's website, and the organization has refused to make public a list of its members. Through extensive research, including the Missouri Ethics Commission and Sunshine Law requests of legislators' offices, Progress Missouri and the Center for Media and Democracy have uncovered more than 120 Missouri and Kansas legislators and politicians who are ALEC members and supporters. Of these, 47 Missouri elected officials and 48 Kansas elected officials with ALEC ties currently hold public office. The Speaker of the Kansas House, Rep. Ray Merrick, is an ALEC Board Member.

BEYOND COPYCAT BILLS: ALEC-INSPIRED ATTACKS

In addition to introducing ALEC model legislation directly as bills, ALEC-affiliated legislators have also pushed “ALEC-inspired” bills in our statehouses. While these bills are not verbatim copies, they closely resemble ALEC model legislation and further the aims of ALEC corporations.

Missouri House Bill 1617 is the latest in a years-long effort to pass “paycheck deception,” an anti-worker policy designed to make it harder for workers and their unions to engage in the political process.. ALEC’s model “Public Employee Paycheck Protection Act” pushes the same policy, prohibiting public employees from voluntarily contributing to union political activity via payroll deductions. Though HB 1617 was not drafted in precisely the same format as the ALEC model, they both seek the same harmful ends through the same burdensome means.

There are similar instances in Kansas. House Bill 2458 seeks to end “net metering” policies that incentivize consumers to use clean, alternative energy like solar by crediting consumers who feed energy back into the grid. ALEC has an “Updating Net Metering Policies Resolution” that urges states to replace their net metering policies with “fixed rate” policies. While Kansas HB 2458 is not an exact replica of the ALEC resolution, they are strikingly similar and both impose new fees on the use of solar energy, benefitting large power companies. This is not surprising, given that corporate special interests and the David Koch-backed Americans for Prosperity pushed the bill in the state.

For years, Schwartz and other members of the firm have attended ALEC meetings, testified for bills on behalf of ALEC, and even registered to lobby in North Dakota, despite the fact that ALEC maintains it does not lobby. Shook, Hardy & Bacon has spearheaded ALEC's tort-reform efforts for years, often pushing bills that seem to benefit the firm's clients

ANHEUSER-BUSCH INBEV

Anheuser-Busch was a member of ALEC's Commerce, Insurance, and Economic Development (CIED) Task Force, and has continued to participate in ALEC even after being purchased by InBev. #### BRYAN CAVE, LLP

Bryan Cave, LLP is a multinational law firm with offices in St. Louis, Jefferson City and Kansas City, Missouri. Bryan Cave was a sponsor of "Missouri Night" at Antoine's Restaurant in New Orleans during the 2011 ALEC Annual Meeting.

MISSOURI AND KANSAS CORPORATIONS THAT HAVE CUT THEIR ALEC TIES

EXPRESS SCRIPTS

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported in 2014 that Ameren "is not a member of ALEC and that it would disclose any political contributions to that group."

ALEC JUNKETS AND “SCHOLARSHIPS”

Why would a legislator be interested in advancing cookie-cutter bills that are giveaways for multinational corporations located outside of Missouri and Kansas? ALEC’s appeal rests largely on the fact that these legislators receive trips, food and lodging that provide many part-time legislators and their families with vacations, along with the opportunity to rub shoulders with prospective donors to their political campaigns. The ritzy trips are paid for by “scholarships” funded by corporations and awarded to legislators. For a few hours of work on a task force and sitting through a couple of workshops by ALEC experts, part-time Kansas and Missouri legislators can bring the whole family to ALEC’s annual convention, vote in private meetings with corporate lobbyists, and stay in swank hotels and attend parties, all heavily subsidized by the corporate till. As the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported after the 2011 ALEC conference in New Orleans, “corporate benefactors made sure Missouri lawmakers attending the conference were well fed and hydrated.”

CORPORATE DONORS TO ALEC “SCHOLARSHIPS”

The Center for Media and Democracy reported in 2012 that:

"The American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC) has raised and spent an estimated $4 million in funds from its corporate backers from 2006 to 2008 to pay for state lawmakers' trips to meet with corporate CEOs and lobbyists at ALEC sponsored events at posh retreats, according to internal ALEC documents and other investigative work..."

"The scheme works like this: ALEC state chairs (hand-picked legislators and private-sector members) solicit corporate money that goes into a "Scholarship Fund" that is then used to pay for lawmakers' trips. Records show that ALEC legislators know who's paying their way—some state leaders even urge lawmakers to send thank-you notes to their patrons—but everyone else is kept in the dark. ALEC claims to the IRS that it does not have to report the money spent on elected officials because it is just holding the funds 'in trust' for lawmakers. But at the same time, it promises corporate donors that they can get a tax write-off for their donations."

From 2006 to 2008, the Center for Media and Democracy identified the following Missouri corporations that paid for “scholarships” for Missouri lawmakers.

ALEC GIFTS WRITTEN OFF AS “CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS”

In addition to “scholarships,” Missouri and Kansas legislators have disclosed a combined $22,066 in campaign contributions from the American Legislative Exchange Council since 1999. These contributions are not likely actual campaign contributions, which would be illegal for a 501(c)(3) like ALEC, but instead politicians reporting their receipt of ALEC “scholarships” as campaign contributions.

ALEC MEMBER CORPORATION DONATIONS TO ALEC POLITICIANS

Tens of thousands of dollars in “scholarships” and gifts do not tell the whole story. ALEC-affiliated legislators in Kansas and Missouri alike have received significant campaign contributions from ALEC’s corporate members. ALEC member corporations have made nearly half a million dollars’ worth of campaign contributions to Kansas legislative leaders with ALEC ties and their affiliated committees. In Missouri, where there are no contribution limits whatsoever, the total is more than twice that of Kansas. ALEC member corporations have made a total of more than $1.1 million in donations to the political campaigns of Missouri legislators with ALEC ties and their affiliated committees.
